(Special to The Evening World.)
WEST SIDE BALL PARK, CHICAGO, July 18.—Some of heart at the thought that Jack Doyle's much-bellied bunch of misfits whined them in the opening game of the series here, the battered Giants went out to Col. Hart's spacious lot on the West Side to play this afternoon determined to be evened if they broke every bat in the bag. A victory yesterday would have been very timely. Yesterday lost a game and St. Louis broke even with the Beaneaters, and a win for the Giants would have bunched the leaders again.

"We're not out of the race by any means," said Manager Davison this morning. "We are not many games behind Pittsburgh and if those Pirates strike a little tough luck they'll come back in a hurry. We are home nearly all the month of August and on our own grass-plot we should catch up with these Westerners again, but it won't do to let these misfits here trim us."

"Matty, Phyllis and Taylor should be able to beat Loftus's twirlers in the four games we have left. If we can win four in a row and Pittsburgh and St. Louis drop one or two we'll be ready to give them a race when we get home."

Billy Phyllis, who has not pitched since Umpire Behle stole him from him at Cincinnati, was slated for the slab job to-day, but he was too ill to go into the box. Phyllis was knocked out by the heat at St. Louis, and on the way to this city contracted a cold that has put him out of commission for the present. Taylor was sent to the rubber by Manager Davison, and Victor Eason, who has been doing good work on the slab for Chicago, paraded in the center of the diamond for the locals.

The usual Chicago "crowd," about 30 people, were in the stands when the game began.

First Inning.

For New York, Van Halten knocked a homer to Raymer and died at first. Selbach lifted a fly to Green. McBride drew a free pass. Davis flied to Green. No runs.

Hartzel opened with a base hit that Hickman couldn't reach. Davis made a neat assist of Green's sacrifice bunt. Chance was safe at first, because Strang threw low. He stole second. Dexter singled to center, scoring Hartzel and Chance. Childs was out, Davis to Ganzel. Raymer flied to Ganzel. Two runs.

DEVERY KNEW HIS MAN.

Houry Won't Get Promotion, but Will Lose His Detail.

Policeman Alexander Houry, of the Oak street station, was charged by his Captain today with not keeping peddlers moving fast enough on Newspaper Row.

"Why, Mr. Commissioner," said Houry, who is a Greek, "I've been detailed down there for three years, and I'm the best policeman they ever had there. If you were the captain you'd recommend me for promotion. Would you chase an old man with a cane and a wagon with ice-cream on it? That was all there was there. I wouldn't chase him and you wouldn't."

"Houry, I know you," replied Devery, grimly, "and I know how you got that detail. You went to the newspapers and got all the fellows to sign a petition, then you got the petition signed by the hanging out in the newspaper offices ever since."

Use the Brooklyn Bridge, and whenever I go down there I find the place congested. Mr. Houry, instead of promoting you, I fine you $100 for detaining you. And you're to lose your detail."

Crops over many acres were carried away. Orchards and stretches of timber were blown out of the ground.

LILLIAN BARNES ALLEN.

DEADLY BOMB
SENT BY MAIL.

Brooklyn City Official Receives Infernal Machine—One Man's Hand Blown Off—Fellow-Employee Arrested.

A dynamite bomb, which was sent through the mails to-day to John T. Kletchka, an employee in the Brooklyn branch of the Board of Public Improvements, exploded in the offices this morning while Edgar Schroeder, a fellow-employee, was trying to open it. The shock was terrific. Schroeder's right hand was blown off at the wrist, and Kletchka, who stood near him, was knocked down and stunned.

After investigating the case Acting Capt. Kennedy, of the Adams street station, ordered the arrest of Benjamin Rosenbloom, a draughtsman, employed in the department. Rosenbloom is thirty years old and lives at No. 38 Willoughby street. He is a Russian and a graduate in engineering from Rutgers College.

After the explosion Kletchka told the police that he had some difficulty with Rosenbloom two weeks ago and since then had not spoken to him. Rosenbloom was called to the police station and questioned. He denied knowing anything about the bomb.

Kletchka said that while Rosenbloom was in the room when the bomb was received, he left as soon as Schroeder started to open it. Rosenbloom's room was visited, and from what the police learned the arrest was ordered.

The address on the bomb was written in a fine feminine hand, which indicated at first that the sender of it was a woman. Even after the arrest of Rosenbloom Acting Capt. Kennedy would not say that he did not suspect a woman.

Schroeder was taken to the Brooklyn Hospital, weak from loss of blood and shock, and Kletchka's injuries were dressed in the office.

Arrival of the Bomb.

Schroeder, who is sixty-five years old, lives at No. 194 Court street. He is a topographical draughtsman. He reached

SHIP ON FIRE IS BEACHED IN BAY.

The Commodore T. H. Allen, Loaded with Oil, for Hong Kong, Is Burning.

The full-rigged ship Commodore T. H. Allen, in command of Capt. Merrian, with full cargo of case oil for Hong Kong, China, which sailed from her berth this morning, has gone aground on the eastern edge of Gedney Channel, near the junction of the Swash Channel.

Large clouds of smoke are now coming out of the vessel's main hatch. She has been afire some hours.

The tugs James Lawrence and Unique, the steam pilot-boat New York and a lighthouse tender are gathered about her.

The Commodore T. H. Allen hails from Richmond, Me., where she is owned by T. J. Southard & Son. The vessel was built in 1884 and registers 2,216 tons net.

The Great Rancocas Farm Estimated at $1,000,000, the Famous English Thoroughbreds Valued at $500,000, Besides Private Gifts in Cash Supposed to Amount to $2,000,000, All Go to Mr. Lorillard's Woman Friend by His Will Filed To-Day.

Perre Lorillard's bequests to his friend, Mrs. Lily Barnes Allen, are his Rancocas Farm, all the appurtenances, and all his race horses here and in England. Rancocas is estimated as being worth $1,000,000. The thoroughbreds are worth $500,000.

Mr. Lorillard is said to have given Mrs. Allen before his death at least $2,000,000.

Mrs. Lorillard receives $24,000 a year, a fifth of the income of a trust estate and some bric-a-brac.

NINTH SECTION OF PIERRE LORILLARD'S WILL.

I give, bequeath and devise unto Lily A. Barnes, known as Lily Barnes Allen, my farm, known as "Rancocas Farm," situated partly in the township of Springfield and partly in the township of Pemberton, in the County of Burlington and State of New Jersey, together with all temporary and permanent buildings erected thereon, being all the real property owned by me in said townships, to have and to hold the same to her heirs and assigns forever.

NINTH SECTION.

I give and bequeath to Lily A. Barnes, known also as Lily Barnes Allen, now or late of the city, county and State of New York, all farming implements, utensils, wagons, carriages and all other articles belonging to, in use or connected with my farm known as "Rancocas Farm," situated partly in the township of Springfield and partly in the township of Pemberton, in the County of Burlington and State of New Jersey, at the time of my decease; also all live and dead stock on, belonging to or connected with said farm, and all household effects, useful and ornamental, including books, pictures, paintings, silverware, bric-a-brac, articles of virtue, consumable stores and all other goods and chattels or personal property of whatever kind or description, directly or indirectly in, upon or connected with said farm, or any part thereof, its buildings and appurtenances at the time of my decease. Also all horses, mares and geldings in England, United States or elsewhere, in training or otherwise, as and for her absolute property.

TRENTON, N. J., July 18.—The last will and testament of Pierre Lorillard was filed before Chancellor Magie in the Probate Court this morning. William Brinkerhoff, counsel for the executors, filed proofs that no caveat had been filed against the will being admitted to probate from the Surrogate of Burlington County. This indicates that no contest is to be made by the executors. Pierre Lorillard, Jr., James F. Fiske and George D. Brinley.

The value of the estate is not given. After some preliminary sections referring to personal effects the will reads:

Fifth—I give and bequeath unto my son, Pierre Lorillard, Jr., the sum of $250,000 as and for his absolute property.

Seventh—I give and bequeath unto my wife, Emily T. Lorillard, all my household goods, useful and ornamental, bric-a-brac, articles of virtue, jewelry, silverware, paintings, pictures and other personal property belonging to me and now in my possession or use, or in her possession or use at the time of my decease as and for her absolute property.

In the tenth section Mr. Lorillard refers to the estate held in trust for the benefit of himself and he leaves the
